

BEWARE THE FIRST OF MAY.

8,586 "Houses, Rooms and Apartments" Advs. pub. in THE WORLD last month, against 6,847 during the same month in 1888.

A GUIDE TO EVERYTHING DESIRABLE.

PRICE ONE CENT.

VOTE FOR YOUR FAVORITE TOWN SEE THE MORNING WORLD.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1890.

IF YOU KEEP A HORSE AND WANT A CARRIAGE, Read The World "Wants."

IF YOU KEEP A CARRIAGE AND WANT A HORSE, Read The World "Wants."

PRICE ONE CENT.

THE SUN AND WORLD MAKE THE FIRST NEWS FOR HOME RUN OF THE SEASON.

COMPLETE UNPARALLELED

ORIGINAL SURPRISING

CATCHY

RECORD BREAKING.

THE BRIGHTEST BASEBALL PAGES EVER PRINTED.

LAST EDITION

LAST DAY OF CASTLE GARDEN

Fun Begins at the Barge Office About Future Immigrants.

Portentous Threats by Commissioner Sherrill as to What He'll Do.

This is the last day on which Castle Garden will be occupied as the Landing Bureau for immigrants.

To-morrow the foreman will receive his introduction to the Landing Bureau and Fair Promote at the Barge Office.

Across the beautiful scenic park from Castle Garden is the Barge Office, and here for four days seventy carders have been working a grand transformation scene, and any one who has imagined that there was not room enough there for a landing bureau would have the idea dispelled by a visit there today.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the place to the incoming seekers after liberty and glass will be the new Landing Bureau. One-half has been occupied by the United States Shipping Commission, of which Commissioner Sherrill is the head.

The Commission has found new quarters on two floors of the old building, and the other half was of no practical use, being used as a storehouse, except that in the middle is a small brick room, which is used for the safekeeping of seized goods.

This little building will be the office of the Customs officers, connected with the Landing Bureau. The space to the west and south of this, about 100 feet, will be the house of the new Landing Bureau, which has been built eleven feet above the floor of the baggage-room and hospital. At the head of the stairs will be the baggage-room, with the familiar alleyway runways separated by pine railings as in Castle Garden.

On the mezzor-floor, over the hospital, are quarters for the physician, nurses and attendants. Commissioner Sherrill has his office on the second floor of the building, and the room has been taken the room heretofore occupied by the night inspectors.

HELEN DAUVRAY WARD TALKS.

Her Return to the Stage Not the Cause of the Separation.

The rumor that Mrs. Helen Dauvray Ward and John M. Ward, the well known ball player, had separated, is confirmed to-day by Mrs. Ward herself, who says: "I go back to the stage because I am separated from my husband, but I am not separated from my husband because I want to go back to the stage."

Mr. Ward still refuses to discuss the matter, but there is an inkling to an unfortunate skeleton in the closet given by Mrs. Ward in her pathetic remark made to a reporter:

"When I think how devoted a wife I have been to Mr. Ward, and how constant the public misrepresentations made against me, it almost breaks my heart."

"The whole blame of the separation is put upon my shoulders. My desire to return to the stage had nothing to do with our separation, and Mr. Ward knows it."

"I retired from the stage willingly after my husband, but Mr. Ward knows full well that I do value a domestic life."

"My domestic affairs are sacred to me, and therefore I have steadily refused to discuss them in public, but I have never been able to resist under the imputation published. I regret that this over-sensitive reporter did not obtain an interview with Mr. Ward, for I am certain Mr. Ward would never have allowed such an undesired accusation to be brought against me."

"It is true that Mr. Ward and I are living apart. It is true that I am going back to the stage, but I do not love my art, and I loved my husband more and the stage has never in the past or at the present moment possessed for me charms as attractive as those of a happy home."

"I go back to the stage because I am separated from my husband, but I am not separated from my husband because I want to go back to the stage; there is a vast difference between the two. I do not love my art, and I loved my husband more and the stage has never in the past or at the present moment possessed for me charms as attractive as those of a happy home."

"I go back to the stage because I am separated from my husband, but I am not separated from my husband because I want to go back to the stage; there is a vast difference between the two. I do not love my art, and I loved my husband more and the stage has never in the past or at the present moment possessed for me charms as attractive as those of a happy home."

TICKETS FOR GOOD GUESSEES

Anybody's Chance to See Ball Games Free All Summer.

Fill Out an "Evening World" Coupon as Directed Here.

If everybody in THE EVENING WORLD's prize-guessing contest goes to help swell the attendance on which he is staking at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

The coupons come in showers, and the way the figures range from high to low is wonderful.

The first part of the contest closes at noon to-morrow—that for Brotherhood Park and the Polo Grounds—but there is still nearly a week for guessing on the attendance at one of the New York or Brooklyn ball grounds, the crowds at the opening games will be something tremendous.

IS YOUNG NORMAN HER SON?

An Eva Hamilton Chapter in the Life of Mrs. Vandegrift.

A Burlington Lawyer Traces Up the Alleged Poisoner's History.

MOORE HOLLY, N. J., April 18.—Mrs. Carrie E. Vandegrift, the woman who is locked up in the Burlington County Jail here, accused of attempting to murder her son, Frank C. Norman, by administering slow poison, has had a remarkable and adventurous career.

She gives her age as forty-five, but looks at least ten years younger.

A few years ago she accused her husband of a foulness for Miss Van Seiver, who lived near them. She is said to have called upon that young lady and a stormy scene ensued, Miss Van Seiver being worried.

It was not long after this that she had Miss Van Seiver's brother Charles arrested on a charge of throwing vitriol into her face.

At the same time she caused the arrest of a young man named Martin Matlock, and accused him of robbing her.

Emily Davis, of Burlington, was retained by her to investigate the case, and she went to Philadelphia to look up the woman's antecedents.

"I could learn little or nothing of her early life, except that her maiden name was Carrie Kintner," she said.

"I found out that she had been in jail several times, the first offense being committed in Philadelphia, and back in the sixties. What the crime was I have forgotten now."

At Brotherhood Park, Saturday, April 19, New York (P. L.) vs. Philadelphia (P. L.).

New York (N. L.) vs. Philadelphia (N. L.).

Eastern Park, Friday, April 25, Brooklyn (P. L.) vs. Philadelphia (P. L.).

Washington Park, Thursday, April 24, Brooklyn (N. L.) vs. Philadelphia (N. L.).

The person guessing nearest to the attendance at Brotherhood Park, New York, gets the season ticket for those grounds; the one guessing nearest to the Washington Park, Brooklyn, attendance gets that ticket, and so on.

In case of postponement of games on account of rain the contest will be open for the actual opening day.

Brotherhood Park, Saturday, April 19, New York (P. L.) vs. Philadelphia (P. L.).

New York (N. L.) vs. Philadelphia (N. L.).

Eastern Park, Friday, April 25, Brooklyn (P. L.) vs. Philadelphia (P. L.).

Washington Park, Thursday, April 24, Brooklyn (N. L.) vs. Philadelphia (N. L.).

The person guessing nearest to the attendance at Brotherhood Park, New York, gets the season ticket for those grounds; the one guessing nearest to the Washington Park, Brooklyn, attendance gets that ticket, and so on.

In case of postponement of games on account of rain the contest will be open for the actual opening day.

Brotherhood Park, Saturday, April 19, New York (P. L.) vs. Philadelphia (P. L.).

STRIKERS HELD FOR ASSAULT.

Policemen Cohen and Henry Say They Were Threatened with Death.

The Knee-Pants Makers Claim That Cohen Started the Trouble.

Four of the knee-pants makers who have been out on a strike for several days were arrested in the Essex Market Court today on the charge of feloniously assaulting Policeman Morris Cohen, of the Eldridge street station.

According to Cohen, Louis Rubinski, a contractor, of 26 Orchard street, accused a striker of having assaulted him, and Cohen chased the man into America Hall, 105 East Broadway, and attempted to arrest him.

Cohen claimed that he was justified in shooting, as he had been pelted with stones and bricks, and he was in fear of his life.

Cohen and Henry were the complainants this morning. They repeated their story, and Cohen said that when he tried to arrest the striker, Ida Ginsberg, he was hit on the head with a brick.

"She caused the arrest of the gentlemen who exposed her, even in all, but finally withdrew all complaints except one against Philip Hendricks. She sued him for $10,000, and she was accused of poisoning in her case was called for trial she was in jail."

"Who was her first husband?" asked the reporter.

"I don't know, but she gets the name Norman from a man who legally married her. He was a well-to-do iron-monger. He died a lingering death, it is said, of consumption."

"His sister when I was looking up Mrs. Vandegrift's record in Philadelphia. They are refined respectable women."

"They did not desire to say much about their sister-in-law, but I tell you one thing, they don't believe that Frank Norman, the man who is accused of poisoning, is their brother's child."

"It is a fact that the woman disappeared for three days on one occasion, and no appearance of coming motherhood. When she returned she had a baby in her arms."

When she was arraigned in court yesterday, she was held in $5,000 bail for trial April 18.

John Kinley, of 131 East 121st street, Philadelphia, was beside her, and also Frank Norman, the young man she is accused of attempting to murder.

It now appears that Benjamin Kain, her husband, who lived in the Bronx, and who was the first to become suspicious, and that it was she who was accused of poisoning in her case was called for trial she was in jail."

"Who was her first husband?" asked the reporter.

"I don't know, but she gets the name Norman from a man who legally married her. He was a well-to-do iron-monger. He died a lingering death, it is said, of consumption."

"His sister when I was looking up Mrs. Vandegrift's record in Philadelphia. They are refined respectable women."

"They did not desire to say much about their sister-in-law, but I tell you one thing, they don't believe that Frank Norman, the man who is accused of poisoning, is their brother's child."

"It is a fact that the woman disappeared for three days on one occasion, and no appearance of coming motherhood. When she returned she had a baby in her arms."

When she was arraigned in court yesterday, she was held in $5,000 bail for trial April 18.

John Kinley, of 131 East 121st street, Philadelphia, was beside her, and also Frank Norman, the young man she is accused of attempting to murder.

It now appears that Benjamin Kain, her husband, who lived in the Bronx, and who was the first to become suspicious, and that it was she who was accused of poisoning in her case was called for trial she was in jail."

MURIATIC ACID IN HER FACE.

Joseph Cottrell Took Horrible Vengeance on His Wife.

He Was Insanely Jealous of Her and She Wouldn't Live with Him.

Joseph Cottrell, a swarthy, surly man, was locked up in the Tombs this morning in default of $1,000 bail for dashing muriatic acid in his wife's face last night. He refused to say a word in defense of his horrible act.

His wife spent the night in dreadful agony at the Chambers Street Hospital. Her face, right eye and forehead are terribly burned and she will be disfigured for life.

She may lose the sight of one eye, but Dr. VanLenthusse, who attended her, thinks she will not die of her fearful burn.

She was removed to Bellevue Hospital at 1 o'clock this morning.

She married Cottrell eight years ago. He is a clerk at Purdy's station, on the Harlem River.

Cottrell was insanely jealous of her, and after living in police with him for three years he decided to give up that man for her.

Then he annoyed her by every means in his power. He importuned her on every possible occasion to return and live with him.

She wouldn't, however, and to escape him she recently came to live with her married sister, Mrs. Peter Flood, at 31 Roosevelt street, leaving her six-year-old girl with her parents at Purdy's station. She has supported herself and child by sewing.

Mrs. Flood died of pneumonia last Tuesday, and she was left alone. She is now in bed with the same complaint.

Some of the neighbors who live in the house about 7:30 o'clock last night, concluding with Mrs. Cottrell over the misery that had overtaken the Flood family, when a quick nervous knock sounded on the door.

Mrs. Cottrell opened it.

"Oh, yes," she exclaimed, stepping back and turning pale.

"Yes, and I came to see if you are going to return to me and give up that man for whom you left me."

"I left you for no one. Your jealousy drove me away, and I will not go back," she replied calmly.

"Then I am cutting you out of my life," he hissed, snatching a vial out of his pocket and dashing the contents in her face.

The poor woman screamed in agony. Her face turned black and scorching right before the eyes of the horrified neighbors.

With one accord they rushed at Cottrell but he drew a huge carving knife from his pocket and yelled: "Murder!"

"Come on," he yelled, "I'll fix some more of you."

They fell back, and he rushed down stairs. Then they followed him, screaming: "Murder!"

Fourth Ward boys tripped Cottrell in the main hall and sent him flying headlong into the street, but he was up again in a minute, crying out from the angry crowd, then pursuing him.

Policeman McCarthy and McNeale captured the lawyer, who was seen to enter him to the Oak street station-house. He said he was thirty-six years old. His wife is thirty years old.

THINKING IS GOOD ENOUGH, COMMISSIONER, BUT IT CLEANS NO STREETS.

FOREIGN NEWS OF THE DAY. BEATTIE 'LACKS A PLAN.

Spread and Success of the Socialist Boycotts in Berlin.

Perils of Traveling in Siberia.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 18.—Much comment has been aroused here by a letter from a Russian official, published in the Grashdanin, and describing the perils and horrors of a journey in Siberia, even for the wealthy.

The price of everything, he writes, is abominably high. The people are vicious and depraved, and the petty officials are thieves and drunkards.

He asserts that it is not safe to venture out of doors after 9 o'clock at night unless armed with a revolver.

Boycotting in Berlin.

BERLIN, April 18.—The boycott originated by the Socialists here has been extended so far as to include cigar-dealers and hatters selling goods not bearing the union label, and the saloons, the proprietors of which will not return their trade for Socialist meetings.

The boycott of all grocers who keep open on Sunday afternoons has met with immediate success, and resulted in the closing of nearly all the shops.

London Tailors Threaten a Strike.

LONDON, April 18.—The journeymen tailors demand increase of pay, and threaten a general strike if it is not granted.

The abolition of the sweating system is aimed at in this movement, and the men have the sympathy of the public.

Parliament May Inquire into the City of Paris Accident.

PARIS, April 18.—A Parliamentary inquiry into the accident to the steamer City of Paris is proposed.

Baseball To-Day.

Syracuse, Columbus and the Athletics are first winners in the American Association, having beaten Brooklyn, Toledo and Rochester in their opening games yesterday.

To-day's Association games are: Brooklyn vs. Syracuse, at Brotherhood Park; Chicago vs. Boston, at Fenway Park; Louisville vs. St. Louis, at Louisville.

LOCAL EXHIBITION GAMES.

New York (N. L.) vs. Newark, at the Polo Grounds.

New York (P. L.) vs. Crescent Athletic, at Brotherhood Park.

LAST EDITION

STRIKERS FIRED ON.

The Austrian Labor Troubles Lead to Further Bloodshed.

12,000 Iron-Workers /dded to the Ranks of the Disaffected.

A Call Upon the Governor of Prague for Troops.

VIENNA, April 18.—The labor situation grows more critical, and there are again reports of bloodshed.

At Karwin the troops fired into the crowds and wounded several people.

There is a call upon the Governor of Prague for troops at Ilkowitz.

A sugar factory at Kunzendorf and a cellulose factory at Bateman were attacked by strikers and the workmen were compelled to quit work.

The 12,000 workmen at the Wittkowitz iron works have struck.

WILL MURRAY BE EXPELLED?

Revival of the Story of His Confirmation by the '80 Aldermen.

The Committee on Resolutions of the County Democratic, before whom Police Justice Murray last night refused to substantiate his charges against Maurice J. Power, Thomas Costigan, William P. Mitchell and Richard Cunningham, will meet in Cooper Union Monday night and formulate their report to the County Committee.

It is said that the report will fully exonerate the accused leaders of all the charges preferred and heavily scored Police Justice Murray last night.

It may even recommend the expulsion of the accused Justice from the organization, which Cunningham, who met in Cooper Union Monday night and formulate their report to the County Committee.

It is said that the report will fully exonerate the accused leaders of all the charges preferred and heavily scored Police Justice Murray last night.

It may even recommend the expulsion of the accused Justice from the organization, which Cunningham, who met in Cooper Union Monday night and formulate their report to the County Committee.

It is said that the report will fully exonerate the accused leaders of all the charges preferred and heavily scored Police Justice Murray last night.

It may even recommend the expulsion of the accused Justice from the organization, which Cunningham, who met in Cooper Union Monday night and formulate their report to the County Committee.

It is said that the report will fully exonerate the accused leaders of all the charges preferred and heavily scored Police Justice Murray last night.

It may even recommend the expulsion of the accused Justice from the organization, which Cunningham, who met in Cooper Union Monday night and formulate their report to the County Committee.

It is said that the report will fully exonerate the accused leaders of all the charges preferred and heavily scored Police Justice Murray last night.

It may even recommend the expulsion of the accused Justice from the organization, which Cunningham, who met in Cooper Union Monday night and formulate their report to the County Committee.

It is said that the report will fully exonerate the accused leaders of all the charges preferred and heavily scored Police Justice Murray last night.

It may even recommend the expulsion of the accused Justice from the organization, which Cunningham, who met in Cooper Union Monday night and formulate their report to the County Committee.

It is said that the report will fully exonerate the accused leaders of all the charges preferred and heavily scored Police Justice Murray last night.